

Course Description:

CIS 521: This course examines basic enterprise information systems assurance principles and examines operational, technical, and administrative aspects of information assurance.